LONDON (Reuters)—Millions of London travellers face the threat of a one-day-a-week total stoppage on the British capital's subway system.

Representatives of more than 18,000 subway workers decided overwhelmingly today to hold a series of Monday strikes beginning next week until the London Transport System agrees to their pay claim.

Catamaran Missing Down Coast

The U.S. Coast Guard is carrying out a search today for two men who left Victoria in November aboard a flimsy, 18-foot catamaran for a "leisurely voyage" down the Pacific coast to Mexico.

The Coast Guard said the twin-hulled, home-made craft, equipped with small outboard motor and sail, was believed to carry Bernhardt Abel, 34, and Franz Giers, 21.

The two men left La Push, on the west coast of the Olympic Peninsula, about 2 a.m. Sunday. The craft was last seen by the lighthouse keeper at Destruction Island about noon Sunday.

They were believed headed for Grays Harbor.

SEARCHED SEARCH

A third member of the crew when the catamaran left Victoria, Wolfgang Giffels, 22, hitchhiked from La Push to Grays Harbor Sunday, and set the search in motion when he could not locate his friends.

The Coast Guard has combed the shoreline from La Push to the Columbia River, to a distance eight miles at sea, but no sign of the frail craft has been seen.

A fourth member of the expedition when the catamaran left here in November was Clark Huffman, 19, of Trenton, Ont., who hitchhiked to Vancouver and joined the group by answering an advertisement placed by Abel, leader of the group.

BACK TO CANADA

The coast guard believes Huffman has returned to Canada. First reports cited Huffman as owner of the craft, but Abel said while in Victoria it was a co-operative venture, with all four men helping to build and finance the boat at a cost of about $1,200.

Abel, a free-lance photographer, had hoped to make money on the trip by selling still and motion pictures and feature stories.

From Victoria the four men crossed to Port Angeles, and ran into trouble when they had a pontoon landing on the U.S. shore.

They returned to Vancouver, original starting point for the venture, but resumed the trip in December. Abel checked with customs at Neah Bay before moving on to La Push, where the craft remained for about a month.

It is not known when Huffman left the expedition to return to Canada.

Space 'Buckshot' Misses Target

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Rocket failure today ruined an attempt to boost five satellites into orbit simultaneously to probe a number of space mysteries.

The space quintuplets hurtled into the sky at 4:30 a.m. EST (1:30 PST) cradled in the nose of an 80-foot Thor-Able-Star rocket.

The first stage of the 55-ton rocket performed normally and observers saw the second stage ignite.

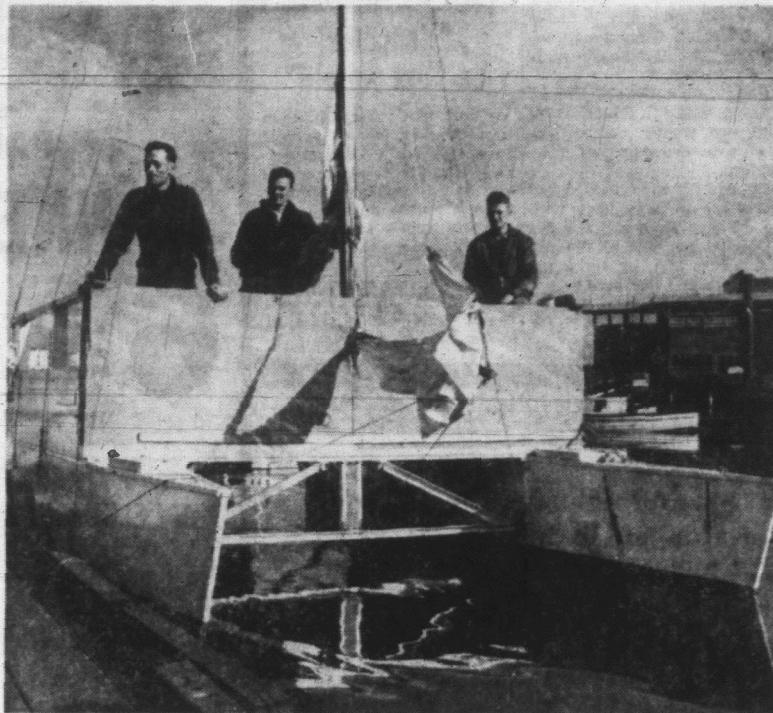

But 20 minutes after launching the defence department announced that the upper stage failed to build up sufficient thrust after ignition and the entire rocket assembly plunged in the Atlantic far down range.

The failure wrecked the United States' most ambitious multiple payload experiment vehicle fell into the sea "well to date. Attempts have been south of Cuba."

MLAs Go Into Huddle On Session Strategy

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Politicians went into caucus today in preparation for Thursday's official opening of the session.

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will do the honors at 3 p.m., accompanied by a 100-man Royal Guard and a 15-gun salute outside the Legislative Buildings.

After his ceremonial entry into the legislative chamber (he will be clad in his special civil dress uniform with gold braid) Gen. Pearkes will read the Speech from the Throne, outlining government plans for the session.

PLAN STRATEGY

Meanwhile, today the new Democratic-CCF Party and the Liberals huddled in caucus to plan their sessional campaigns.

Social Crediters will meet later.

One of the first moves by the NDP-CCF will be a formal request on the floor of the House for a change of name from plain CCF.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Note to the Centennial committee: Here are some of the privately-booked attractions which are coming to Vancouver in the next few months, apart from the Festival:

Roy Rogers, Dale Rogers and Trigger;
The Old Vic Company, playing Romeo and Juliet and Macbeth;
Ukrainian State Dancers (Sol Hurok);
D'Oyly Carte Opera Co., playing three G. & S. shows;
My Fair Lady;
The Unsinkable Milti Brown.

Couldn't a few of these be lured across the water?

Hugh Pickett and Gordon Hiltz are most obliging fellows.

Provincial biologist Charles Guiguet hooked onto a spring salmon off Oak Bay Sunday while fishing with two lines out.

As he was attempting to get the free line inboard while playing the fish with his other hand he lost control, and the fish charged off with line, leader, line, rod and reel.

Commercial fisherman Ray Deall, trolling nearby, spotted this and made a sweep by Charlie's boat trying to snag the gear.

Unsuccessful, he put off to return an hour and a half later when he hooked the rod and hauled it aboard to find the fish lively as ever, still on the hook.

He landed the salmon, kept it, and returned the tackle to its owner. Both men are reported happy.

The white blossoms of parachutes floating down toward a Wilkinson Road field Sunday were not from some distressed aircraft but members of the newly-formed Victoria Skydiving Club.

Club members made their first jumps from Victoria Flying Club aircraft Jan. 13 and this was their third outing. A club director said guests and observers were not being encouraged until the members had completed five jumps each.

"We don't want people running all over the target zone."

Former footballer Bert Nelson is adding touches of humor to Esquimalt council meetings with his spontaneous quips and observations.

Said Bert in reporting a Library Meeting, "Mr. Reeve, I must admit I didn't say a word at the meeting; I didn't think it would be fair to wake them all up."

You need never die if the pattern set for you at birth is fulfilled.

Richard Thompson, leader of the Vancouver Ontological Group, told a meeting in Courtenay recently that the entire human body is renewed every seven years and should never deteriorate if properly cared for.

For the layman, Ontology is described as the art of seeing at one with the being within.

So if you're celebrating any birthday after No. 7, you're cheating.

Since the Montreal Canadiens trained here last fall, Victoria minor hockey association president Doug Fletcher has had occasion to exchange correspondence with the Hab's president, Kenny Reardon.

A recent note from Ken was written while the league-leaders were in a temporary slump. It read, in part:

"Our team got off to a good start after breathing Western Canada's wonderful air but the effects seem to be wearing off. If you could send us several bags of it, maybe it would rejuvenate our hockey club and keep us in first place."

At opening of the first legislative assembly in the new Parliament Buildings here on Feb. 10, 1898, Mrs. Harry Dallas Helmcken, wife of an MLA for Victoria City, presented the 18 members of the Press Gallery with boutonnieres. Press reports of that day said this was "her usual custom."

AT CIVIC CENTRE

Pools, Promenade Outsiders' Gift?

Decorative pools and a surrounding promenade planned for the city's Cathedral Hill civic centre may be provided by the three outside municipalities as a centennial gift.

Considération of the proposal was promised Tuesday after the suggestion arose at an intermunicipal meeting.

The pools, probably costing about $30,000 which originally was suggested as a suitable total value for a gift from the outlying municipalities, would be located between Christ Church Cathedral and the new Law Courts Building if the civic centre proposal is carried out.

Saanich and Oak Bay representatives told the meeting that their councils recently appropriated the sums it had been suggested they should contribute.

If their councils approve, the money could go into a trust

Civic Holiday Plan Held Too Expensive

Request for declaration of a civic holiday August 2 to honor overtime rates on a holiday and many union contracts might be affected, it was added.

Ald. A. I. Curtis said the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Oak Bay Board of Trade should be asked their opinion because it was their money that was involved.

"It could be considered high-handed if we declared a holiday," he said.

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele and Oak Bay Coun. Allan Cox moved "we take very firm action on this and recommend to our councils that this

NDP Asks Campaign Fund Ceiling

The New Democratic CCF party Tuesday announced it will seek legislation limiting political campaign funds, and making all major donations public.

The decision was made Tuesday at the first caucus of the NDP-CCF for the legislative session which opens Thursday.

A statement by party leader Robert Strachan said the type of legislation it wanted would be aimed "at preventing the corruption of public life in this province through secret campaign funds."

DISCLOSE SOURCE

"For the purpose of raising political morality in B.C. it is imperative that a limit be placed on campaign spending and the source of major campaign funds be made public knowledge," he added.

"Despite the B.C. Electric takeover, there can be little doubt that other large businesses will continue to make substantial campaign donations and obtain special privileges," said Mr. Strachan.

The NDP-CCF move follows legislation passed in B.C.-last year banning use of union dues for political purposes, which the CCF protested at the time was aimed directly at frustrating the new party's labor support.

U.S. Urges Negotiations Over Kashmir

NEW DELHI (AP)—India is considering a U.S. offer of good offices in an effort to settle the Indian-Pakistani dispute over Kashmir, an official spokesman said today.

A UN cease-fire line now separates their armies in Kashmir and Pakistan has asked the UN Security Council to take up the dispute again as a threat to peace.

Official sources in Karachi said Tuesday night that the Pakistani government has accepted an offer from President Kennedy for U.S. mediation. But Indian sources said the offer involved only the good offices of a prominent American rather than mediation.

Good offices would involve the United States only in bringing the two sides together while mediation would make the United States a third party in trying to work out a settlement.

Mass Strike In Algiers

ALGIERS—The French tricolor was flown today throughout Algiers' European areas in a massive demonstration of opposition to Algerian independence.

The flag display was ordered by the European Secret Army Organization, which also called for a 75-minute general strike late this afternoon and told the European population to turn off the lights in their homes for the last 15 minutes. The strike was expected to paralyze the city.

He was supported by Ald. A. I. Curtis.

Later, Reeve Wurtele told a reporter he was referring to a statement by centennial subcommittee chairman James K. Nesbitt accusing the outside municipalities of balking at helping with centennial celebration.

The pools, probably costing about $30,000 which originally was suggested as a suitable total value for a gift from the outlying municipalities, would be located between Christ Church Cathedral and the new Law Courts Building if the civic centre proposal is carried out.

Self-Rule to Negro State Planned by South Africa

CAPE TOWN (AP)—Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd has announced his white supremacy regime plans to give internal self-government next year to a segregated state of 2,000,000 Negroes in the Transkei area on the Indian Ocean.

Verwoerd told Parliament Tuesday Transkei would be the first state set up under his government's program of separate development for Bantu Negro states within a South African Commonwealth.

Transkei will have "a wholly black Parliament and cabinet" with authority over agriculture, education, lands, roads and other internal matters, Verwoerd said. External affairs, defense, and "certain aspects of the administration of justice" will remain in the hands of the all-white South African government "for the time being," he said.

Verwoerd's announcement promptly drew fire from Dr. Bernard Friedman, leader of the Transvaal Progressive party. He termed it "windy dressing to disarm foreign critics of South Africa's apartheid policy of strict racial segregation.

The Transkei, an area of 16,000 square miles south of Durban, includes strife-ridden Pondoland which Verwoerd's government has proclaimed a closed area and moved in troops to "pacify."

Verwoerd said the white inhabitants of Transkei will have political rights in its government, and a five-year training program will be set up to replace white civil servants in the state with Bantus.

"Planning includes a five-year program by the department of Bantu administration, the Bantu Trust and the Transkei government; economic aid through the Bantu Finance Corporation, the establishment of a development corporation for the Transkei and a five-year program for the development of border industries," Verwoerd said.

"White initiative and white private enterprise without the Bantus being exploited by the creation of white vested interests in those areas."

Archie DeBois, River Road, Sooke, pleaded guilty in Sooke RCMP court Tuesday to assaulting another Sooke man, Fred Peterson.

Peterson complained he was walking along Kaitashin Road with two women companions when a car drove by, just missing him.

He said the car returned and there was an argument with the driver. Then passenger DeBois—got out of the car and struck him, breaking his spectacles and dentures.

Magistrate Eugene Murphy remanded DeBois to Jan. 30 for sentence and set bail at $200.

'Public Has Right to Know'

OTTAWA (CP)—An omnibus non-confidence motion attacking the government on nearly every count was beaten 155 to 49 in the Commons Tuesday night.

Division on the motion by Hazen Argue, House leader of the CCF-New Democratic Party group, gained Liberal support but unanimous rejection by the heavily Conservative majority.

His motion cited government failure in various fields to develop the economy to provide expanded export markets, full employment and, with provincial co-operation, a pre-paid medical care program for all Canadians.

The uneventful roll-call followed these developments:

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said the government will increase the universal old age pension, payable to everyone at age 70, to $65 a month from

Inadequate Farm Policy Rapped

"We feel the Canadian public has a right to know how the moneys will be raised to meet the many important expenditures that are being announced," he said.

Mr. Argue criticized the government for distributing widely a pamphlet on the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act, passed last session, but said so far as he could learn not one project had been started under it.

The government's over-all farm program has been inadequate and hesitant, he said. "There has been a lot of legislation, a lot of words, and a lot of window dressing—but very little by way of actual benefits."

In another field, he said, Mr.

'Same Old Group as They Were Then'

"The Liberals are the same old group now as they were then, the same assortment that said $6 was enough in 1957," he said. The Conservatives raised the rate by $9 to $55 when they took office in 1957.

The prime minister noted that the New Democratic Party had advocated a basic pension rate of $75 a month. He quoted Mr. Pearson as saying that such an amount was ridiculous and could not be provided.

Mr. Pearson jumped to his feet to explain that he thought $75 a month paid to everyone 65 and over, rather than at 70, was "irresponsible, at that time".

Mr. Diefenbaker said that was before the Liberals announced this month that, if elected, they would introduce a plan of contributory old age pension supplements which

Riots Subside In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A strike called in defiance of the government.

Caracas' Central University, where police said pro-Castro extremists held up and fired on them, was cleared of students by university authorities.

Bombs exploded in scattered parts of the city Tuesday and eight buses were burned during the fighting in the second day of clashes brought on by leftist agitators against the government of President Romulo Betancourt.

Twenty-three persons have been killed and more than 100 injured in the disorders which coincided with the meeting of Western Hemisphere foreign ministers at Punta del Este in Uruguay to consider action against Fidel Castro's Cuba.

A bomb blast damaged the U.S. Embassy Monday.

The violence was accompanied by a nation-wide transit

Pension Plan For Toll Staff

Employees of the British Columbia Toll Authority have now been brought under the British Columbia government's civil service pension plan.

Premier Bennett, announcing the move Tuesday, said it would include all ferry employees.

The civil service pension scheme formerly did not cover employees of Crown agencies. Liquor Board employees were brought under the scheme last year.

All employees under 55 with six months service may join the plan, superior to the private pension schemes offered previously by the agencies.

NARCOTICS KINGPINS CAUGHT AFTER FLIGHT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three "ringleaders" of a $100,000,000 narcotics ring who jumped bail and fled the country, have been arrested by authorities in Spain, Attorney-General Robert Kennedy said Tuesday night.

Kennedy said that Frank Caruso, 50, of Brooklyn, and Vincent J. Mauro, 45, of New York City, were arrested in Barcelona while travelling with false Canadian passports. Salvatore Maneri, 48, of Palermo, Sicily, was arrested on the island of Majorca and will be taken to Barcelona to-day, he said.

The three were among 24 men indicted May 22 in New York City in connection with an international narcotics ring. Eleven of them have already been tried and convicted.

Two others were found slain gangland-style after the indictments were handed down.

BONNER PREDICTION

Shipping Costs To Drop for B.C.

Lower shipping costs and a better chance at selling in Prairie markets for B.C. business will result if recommendations of a federal royal commission on transportation are implemented, Attorney-General Robert Bonner predicted Tuesday.

He was amplifying earlier comments on the report of the MacPherson commission, released in Ottawa Tuesday.

Mr. Bonner said B.C. has "good reason to be satisfied" with the report.

B.C. PROPOSALS

"It seems to embody most of the major proposals the B.C. team put out during the course of the hearings," he said.

He said its recommendations

Talent Hunt By Trustees Coming Here

Graduates of the faculty of education at Victoria College this year will attract school trustees on a recruiting drive from all over the province on March 12.

This will be the first time that "trustees' day" has been held here. It is an annual event at UBC.

Close to 200 trustees are expected to attend in order to recruit about 300 student teachers who will graduate this spring with qualifications for elementary teaching posts.

The brochures and pamphlets listing local advantages will be provided by the various school districts to attract the graduates at the afternoon session. It will be held in the auditorium-gymnasium at Gordon Head.

However, when Mr. Argue spoke later, he said the increase to $65 was good, but too long delayed. He said the NDP platform called for a basic pension of $75, and a contributory medical care program for everyone.

Mr. Diefenbaker then turned on Hazen Argue, suggesting the NDP's parliamentary leader would call the increase "a pittance"—words Mr. Argue used last session to describe a Conservative farm aid program.

The Terrible Decision

SOME OF THE FREE WORLD'S leading citizens outside politics have united in pleading with President Kennedy not to resume nuclear testing in the atmosphere. This distinguished group includes such men as Lord Boyd-Orr and Lord Russell of Britain, M. Francois Mauriac, of France, Mr. Gunnar Myrdal, of Sweden, Mr. C. Rajagopalachari, of India, Dr. Albert Schweitzer, of Africa, Mr. Norman Thomas of the United States and Dr. Brock Chisholm, of Canada.

Their petition to the President is based on two arguments: That a resumption of American testing would mean that the United States had elected to keep the arms race going full tilt, straight toward inevitable nuclear collision"; and, second, that more tests are not needed anyway.

The danger of massive American tests, followed inevitably by more Russian tests, needs no proof. Such a race of armaments has always led to war in former, pre-atomic times and now involves the pollution of the atmosphere even short of war.

But are American tests unavoidable for military reasons? The petitioners reply by quoting Mr. Kennedy's statement of Aug. 31 last when he said: "The President is entirely confident that the size of the U.S. nuclear weapons stockpile and the capabilities of individual weapons and delivery systems are wholly adequate for the defence needs of the U.S. and of the free world."

It is said, however, that the United States must resume tests in order to develop an anti-missile missile. The petitioners answer this argument by quoting Dr. Hans Bethe, the President's science advisor, who said as late as Jan. 6, 1962: "The development of an effective defence against missile attack is virtually hopeless. An attacker can fill the skies with decoys and thus launch, at one time, more missiles than any defence system could cope with."

Finally the petitioners cite the recent official statement that "a study of the recent Soviet nuclear test series has convinced the Atomic Energy Commission that the balance of nuclear power still favors the United States."

Further atomic experiments being, in their opinion, both dangerous and unnecessary, the petitioners urge the nuclear powers "to refrain from further nuclear test explosions pending the conclusion of the necessary agreements for a test ban treaty with adequate inspection and control, perhaps as part of the first stage of a general and complete disarmament agreement."

The petition adds hopefully that "the last word has not been said in the test-ban negotiations at Geneva. The U.S. has yet to make counter-proposals. With disarmament talks about to resume, the prospects are brighter than at any time in the past decade... To start tests in the atmosphere would be to fly directly in the face of world opinion as expressed by the United Nations resolution of Nov. 6, 1961, which ask the nuclear nations to refrain from tests, pending a test-ban agreement. Let the Russians bear the burden of their own guilt. If we start tests in the air, how will our actions be any better than those of the Russians?"

The danger facing Mr. Kennedy now, however, is not as simple as the petitioners seem to think and he may have secret information not available to them.

Clearly, as he has said, he realizes as well as anyone the dangers of nuclear tests not only to immediate human health but to the world's precarious peace. But if he believes that Russia's last tests have given it a technical superiority, a breakthrough of some kind in defence against missiles (despite Dr. Bethe's opinion to the contrary) then the President may feel compelled to overtake the Russian lead.

Mr. Kennedy says he has no intention of resuming tests merely as a demonstration of American power for propaganda purposes. He will resume them only if he decides that they are essential for technical reasons.

That decision, considering its immediate consequences in the atmosphere and its possible consequences to peace later on, is one of the most terrible that any American statesman has ever faced. Yet in the present state of the world American democracy has reached the point where one man, not the elected legislature, must make the supreme decision alone.

Mr. Khrushchev may have to wrestle with his rivals for power. Mr. Kennedy's right and obligation to decide on nuclear tests, and to decide many other matters that could involve total war, is not questioned in his own country. Thus Lincoln's "government of, by and for the people" is eroded by the struggle for world power and it cannot be otherwise so long as the struggle continues on its present scale and in its present secrecy.

Conferring What?

LAST WEDNESDAY, THE Canadian Press carried an announcement from Mr. W. C. Mainwaring stating that a new company, Alexandra Forest Industries, had taken over the Wenner Gren B.C. Development Co. Ltd. agreement with the B.C. government.

The new company, the president of the old stated, planned a $130,000,000 forestry program in the Peace River area.

Last Thursday, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said he was puzzled by the announcement. "No rights were conferred by the agreement," he stated.

If he did, why the change?

More Thought on Adult Schools

THE GROWING IMPORTANCE of adult education in this community is recognized by the school board in its decision to establish a special advisory committee to study expanded programs.

This is another encouraging move by the educational authorities paralleling the popularity of night school classes.

Changing times have brought new courses into being in recent years, and with them a recognition by the public of the virtues inherent in study after the ordinary school leaving age.

It is gratifying to note that the new committee—composed largely of trustees—will not only consider the role that the school board should play in the expanding adult education programs, but will also turn its collective mind to greater community use of the schools.

Taxpayers, highly conscious of the money they pay to provide accommodation for young students in day school, may find some satisfaction in the trend to make the same buildings available for grown-ups after school hours. This makes sense. It should provide a more direct interest among adults in the type of building for which they are paying taxes and which is being placed increasingly at their disposal.

Which Is the Better Half?

A SLIGHT CONTROVERSY seems to have arisen in East Germany, where one had thought that full agreement prevailed on almost everything.

It appears that young soldiers in barracks have been ordered to take down their pin-up pictures of shapely German girls. The orders came from Communist youth leaders who assessed the pictures as "undignified, dirty and un-socialist." It was not explained which of these epithets constituted the most serious charge, but an East German army magazine went to bat for the barracks inmates.

The girls aren't half-naked as charged, says the magazine, they're half-dressed — being German girls athletes in their athletic togs.

The reply raises a nice point, which merits consideration along with other Communist dialectic. Half-naked, and hence deplorable, or half-dressed, and hence acceptable? Over to you, Karl Marx.

An Inexhaustible Supply of Ammunition

Like shrapnel on the government benches Monday as an aggressive, confident "Mike" Pearson opened the Liberal attack with his hardest hitting speech of the present parliament. As always on "leaders' day," the prime minister and Mr. Fleming attempted to throw the opposition chief off balance with questions and interruptions. In some years this has been an effective tactic. On Wednesday it failed completely. Mr. Pearson, who seemed to anticipate the Conservative interjections, turned them into openings, lashing back with a skill which roused his own desk-thumping supporters to a fever of excitement and the government's glib back-benchers to repeated and angry protests.

The Liberal leader sketched out four main lines of attack but concentrated on trade policy which he obviously regards as the most momentous issue of the session.

His theme was that Canada had been harmed abroad, and her bargaining power impaired, by ministerial confusion and indecision on the question of British adherence to the Common Market. Mr. Fleming provided the target with his claim in a speech last week in Winnipeg that there had never been "anything remotely approaching coolness or hostility" in Canada's relations with Britain, and further that the Canadian government had "never tried to make things difficult for the British."

By courtesy of Conservative ministers, who have been extraordinarily loquacious on this subject, Mr. Pearson came to the House with what appeared to be an inexhaustible supply of ammunition.

No Reply

As Mr. Fleming or Mr. Hees protested one quotation, the Liberal leader would produce another. Despite cries of "Liberal misrepresentation," it was noticeable that most of them were from normally Conservative papers. On at least one occasion, he challenged Mr. Fleming directly to deny his former words and drew no reply.

The passage from the minister's Accra period, read: "We believe that the United Kingdom is too deeply engaged to be able to withdraw. This is a slippery slope."

Mr. Hamilton, who was absent through illness, was quoted as saying: "If Britain goes in and joins this cloister, this monastery, everybody will be taking in everybody's washing."

This process, according to Mr. Pearson, enabled the Common Market to increase its trade with the outside world in 1960 over 1950 by 23 per cent while the GNP of the six countries rose 6.5 per cent in one year.

From Accra, Mr. Pearson followed the story through to the meeting of U.S. and Canadian ministers, documenting every foot of the way.

He noted Mr. Fleming's point that it would be premature and perhaps an inappropriateness to comment on the Kennedy trade program while it was still before Congress, observing mildly that this had not prevented the government from commenting on the Chicago water diversion under similar conditions.

Striking Fact

Oddly, in view of the state of his armament, Mr. Pearson failed to mention the even more striking fact that the minister at Winnipeg had done precisely what he said only a few days before would be an inappropriateness. He lauded the Kennedy program and said it was "in line with the sort of solution" which the Canadian government had been "consistently advocating."

Mr. Pearson dealt shortly but sharply with the issue of nuclear war-heads. He accused Mr. Green and Mr. Harkness of contradicting each other.

The government was paying millions for weapons without war-heads, all pleading that "when the emergency develops, we will then decide." But a missile would take 17 to 20 minutes to reach this continent. Did Mr. Harkness expect in that time to move his warheads from the United States to North Bay?

The third and fourth points in Mr. Pearson's indictment were that the government had failed to develop effective policies to deal with chronic unemployment and had failed equally to stimulate economic growth. It was true that the indices were up as compared to last year and that ministers were making glowing speeches about recovery. But as to this economic improvement, the Liberal leader had two points to make.

Mr. Pearson, noting the repeated ministerial attacks on a "service press," concluded by quoting extensively from articles in The Times of London and other British papers. The common theme in these was the decline of Canadian prestige abroad.

It was this criticism which provoked

Mr. Green into the charge that the opposition leader was "smearing Canada now," an allegation taken up by the prime minister at the very outset of his reply to the government.

In the first place, the indices of production were bound to reflect the facts that our population grows each year and that in this age of technological progress we cannot stand still.

What was disturbing was the pace of advance: production had risen by an average of only 1 1/2 per cent during the past five years as compared with the average of 4.6 per cent in the years 1946-57.

Both Ways

Further, argued Mr. Pearson, the government could not have it both ways. If it took credit for conditions of recovery, it must also assume responsibility for the bad times over which it had presided.

It was not possible to estimate the social losses of a period of unemployment. But one could total the bare financial bill. The sum of five budgetary deficits (with another to come), a drop of $900 million in the unemployment insurance fund, and the disappearance of the $165 million special defence fund, was $3,126,000—the cost, said Mr. Pearson of "Following John."

Several times in the course of his speech, the Liberal leader called for an early election. He accused the government of waging an "electoral war of nerves"; or repeatedly advancing to and then retreating from the brink.

It is to be noted, though, that Mr. Pearson challenged the government to "an election with the full and detailed government program before the people, together with a detailed national accounting so that they would know what has been going on in the country in the last 12 months."

Despite the character of the Throne Speech, opposition members still suspect that the government is strongly tempted to dissolve before another budget and another deficit.

Mr. Pearson, noting the repeated ministerial attacks on a "service press," concluded by quoting extensively from articles in The Times of London and other British papers. The common theme in these was the decline of Canadian prestige abroad.

It was this criticism which provoked Mr. Green into the charge that the opposition leader was "smearing Canada now," an allegation taken up by the prime minister at the very outset of his reply to the government.

Thus any atmospheric tests are highly unlikely during the next six weeks or so before the end of the present session of the UN General Assembly. Meanwhile, however, all necessary preparations for atmospheric tests are being made as rapidly as possible by a special task force. The man in charge is Maj. Gen. Alfred D. Starbird, the Army weapons expert formerly attached to the Atomic Energy Commission.

A shortened program of the most desirable atmospheric tests has already been agreed upon. Negotiations are in progress with the British for the use of the most suitable test site in the Pacific, Christmas Island. If these negotiations fail, Johnson Island will be used for the larger tests; and there will be at least one test—probably the first one—on American continental soil.

Solid Arguments

The proponents of atmospheric testing have on their side of the contest a considerable array of solid, practical arguments. Perhaps the most impressive of these is the evidence that the Russian test-series gave the Soviets a short-cut method of triggering an A-bomb, on a new principle not yet exactly understood by our scientists.

The President very sensibly wants to delay any announcement of resumed atmospheric testing until the last possible instant, in order to reduce the inevitable clamor from the alleged voices of "world opinion." Thus the formal decision will also be delayed until all is in readiness.

But it seems a money-making bet that there will be American atmospheric tests, possibly as early as March, and almost surely before the end of June. (c) 1962 New York Herald Tribune Inc.

IT'S BETTER NICE AND TIDY

History: Let's Leave All Stones Unturned

BACK in the depression years a crowd of unemployed folk paraded through Toronto to Queen's Park to press their demand for jobs. One of the paraders, to drive home the point with bitter humor, had dressed the right half of his body in a First World War uniform, and the left side in rags. He bore a placard: "1914 a hero, 1934 a bum." They're doing the same thing to another soldier now—none other than William the Conqueror. He might well be decked with a sign: "1066 a hero, 1962 a bum."

The thing has blown up in the letters-to-the-editor columns of the British press, and a retired admiral leads the attack against the Norman soldier.

William—and there are some penetrating references to the status of his birth—was no more than a gangster, claims the navy man. Treacherous, cruel, his "conduct may well have been a pattern for Al Capone." And the writer records his amazement that a couple of towns in southern England should be preparing to celebrate the anniversary of the arrival of this invader.

There have been letters in support of William, of course, and they try to make the point that King Harold, who got the arrow in his eye at Hastings, was a pretty poor specimen anyway and had no right to the throne.

It's all very interesting and historical and "all that," but isn't it a trifle dangerous?

For uncounted generations schoolboys and girls have been learning the Kings of England—and of other places too. And long, long ago these monarchs were all tidily divided into good guys and bad guys, strong kings and weak kings, popular leaders and, unpopular leaders. They've all been labelled and established.

Is it fair—or wise—at this late date to dig into their characters again and try to change them? Is it fair to tear British history to pieces in the twentieth century when it had stood up in well-authenticated facts since before 55 BC?

Is some pettifogging pedant to ram home into the past and come up with an announcement that good old Alfred the Great was a bad guy? Is some shabby historian to turn King Alfred into a bad guy? ## So Our Salmon Turned Red

VERY quietly, for the last few months, I have been pursuing investigations of some importance to me.

I have been finding out from my friends, in a round-about way, if they can no longer catch fish either. In general, my research is depressing, but carries certain comfort for me. They didn't catch many salmon last year. In some cases my acquaintances shared my batting average for 1961, a big, fat zero.

The despondent explanation I had worked out for myself apparently is false. I had thought that I had joined the ranks of adults who buy good equipment and catch nothing, while the kid with the string line and bent pin makes the big hauls.

This isn't necessarily so. Innumerable of my friends who talk a good fishing expedition have nothing to talk about on the basis of last year's record. The salmon, I'm led to believe, weren't biting hereabouts in 1961.

And why weren't they?

Perhaps the answer is provided by the January 15 bulletin of the Fisheries Council of Canada.

"Scientists of Canada, the United States and Japan," says the bulletin, "are now in the seventh year of a program formulated by the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission to find out exactly where the salmon live between the times they leave their native rivers and return there to spawn."

After six full years of detective work, the experts have found that our salmon, the children of our British Columbia streams, are moving out and mingling with a whole lot of Asiatic salmon in the North Pacific and Bering Sea.

Where do those Asiatic salmon come from? In large numbers they come from Siberian streams. The trusted native sons

LONDON LETTER

Liquor in Woolworth's?

LONDON — In a quiet, sedate sort of way, Britain is embarking on a campaign against noise—all kinds of noise, from cats yowling on fences to pneumatic drills tearing up the roads.

As Punch writer Claudio Cockburn once said, one of the nice things about England is that there are probably more people joining together to shout "Stop it, you brutes!" than in any other country.

And here, the people who want a little tranquility have got behind a society operating from a quiet little office in Bond Street with the aim of getting 400,000 "noise wardens" to go about the country in a hush-hush kind of way saying: "Please be quiet."

It's the Noise Abatement Society, and it's against banging doors, roaring motorcycles, squealing children, bickering neighbors, horn-jabbing motorists, over-powered radios—and anything else that makes a row.

Founder (two years ago) and honorary secretary is John Connell, whose theme song might be that oldie from Tin Pan Alley.

HOME GARDEN

It's Not Really a Bean at All

Whether or not the broad bean is appreciated as a table delicacy, the plant itself is rather unusual in the realm of garden vegetables.

Although called a bean it is not a bean, nor is it a member of the bean family. It is one of the few species of vetch to have no tendrils. Botanically it is Vicia faba (vis-a-vis v. seaea), vicia meaning "to cling" in reference to the clinging nature of most vetch plants, and faba being the original catalog name, the fava or fabae bean.

Unlike our other beans this plant is native to North Africa and Southwestern Asia, and the perfume from a field of broad beans in flower is reputed to be something long remembered.

In some parts of the world broad beans are known as horse beans and are grown solely as a forage crop. Other parts know them only as an excellent species of vetch to grow as a green manure crop for turning under to improve the soil.

There are long podded varieties with either white or green seeds, broad podded or Wind-sors with white or green seeds, and small podded varieties in both tall and dwarf forms.

BETTER FLAVOR

Wind-sors are considered the finer flavored, and the green seeded forms are held to be more tender and palatable than the white.

A good garden soil suits them well, not too rich or they will tend to make large plants with few pods. They can be sown in a double row with 10 inches between, the seed three inches deep and nine inches apart.

Sowings made be made from November (in sheltered gardens) until April, mid-January to mid-February being suitable under cloches, in cold frames, or with temporary protection in open ground for an early crop.

Pods are gathered when well filled but with the seed still soft. Growing tips of the plants are cut off when the first pods have formed or four sets of flowers are out. This deters the black fly and encourages pod production.

A dusting of agricultural lime protects the young plants from the pea and bean weevil which puts the pretty scalloped edges on the leaves.

Bunny Talked Too Fast About World Hockey Switch

BY DICK BACON

MONTREAL (UPI) — An angry Bob Lebel, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation (IIHF), today charged federation secretary Bunny Aherne with "talking too damn fast."

Aherne, who also is president of the European division of the IIHF, said Tuesday that the 1962 world amateur hockey championships would be of fered to Canada or West Germany if a dispute between the United States and East Germany prevents them from being held in Colorado Springs, Colo., March 8-18. The European division is meeting in Geneva, Switzerland, in an attempt to iron out the problems concerning visas for the East German entry.

"He (Aherne) has no authority to decide such things,"

Lebel told United Press International. "I am the only one who can offer the tournament to another country. Somebody's talking too damn fast and too damn soon."

"As far as I am concerned

I'm still convinced the tournament will be held in Colorado Springs. I've been told by reliable sources that if NATO approves the visas for the East German team then the United States state department will also approve them."

Lebel said the United States delegation representing the American Hockey Association was in Geneva and "they know the United States has not refused visas to the East Germans."

The IIHF president said any talk of switching the tournament to another country or calling it off was premature.

"When we come to that bridge we'll cross it," Lebel said.

As far as Canada taking over the tournament was concerned, Lebel said he doubted if this country would be willing to do so on short notice.

"Kitchener - Waterloo had planned to make a big show of the games if they were awarded to Canada," said Lebel, who made the formal application in 1958 when he was president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

"It takes two or three years to plan these things right," Lebel said. "It can't be done in two or three weeks."

Lebel speculated that if the proper visas are not forthcoming, chances are the world championships might not be held at all.

"They might hold a European championship, or something like that," he added. "but it's up to me to decide whether a world tourney will be held."

Lebel said he expects the visa situation to be settled within 48 hours.

"We should know today or tomorrow if NATO has approved them," he added. "If they do, then it's up to the United States and I'm sure they won't overrule NATO."

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

COUPLE OF QUICK ONES:

NEW YORK — Several years ago when Hank Aaron was holding out on Milwaukee he visited Sam Wolfson, who is the financial backer for the Jacksonville team.

"I want $50,000," Aaron told his old boss.

"Why $50,000?" asked Wolfson.

"I see who's getting $50,000," the outfielder replied. "I think I'm entitled to it. I want you to be my manager."

Wolfson telephoned John Quinn, then the general manager of the Braves, and negotiated a compromise for Aaron. The player didn't get $50,000, but he was satisfied with the deal made by Wolfson, for whom he had played for $300 a month.

"Why," asked Wolfson, "did you think of me as your manager?"

"I know you got a lot of money," replied Aaron. "You're too rich to charge me 10 per cent like a regular manager."

It is natural that Gene Fullmer is trying to arrange a fight with Archie Moore. He scuffles for money and this would be a lucrative match. But it shouldn't be allowed. I doubt if it would go beyond the second round. No small man can walk into Moore, who is accustomed to punching heavyweights. Fullmer hasn't the deceit nor the durability to make it a contest.

The most unpopular coach in professional football is Paul Brown. The other players despise him. The guys who work for him dislike him. The most valorous player in the league, Jimmy Brown, has turned against him. The coach should be impressed by his fullback's cranky utterance. This is a guy who seldom complains.

So quiet is he that Sam Huff was astonished during the last Cleveland-Giants game to hear Jimmy Brown's voice come from the bottom of a pileup.

"Sam," said Brown, "take your finger out of my eye."

"That's not my finger," the line backer replied. "It's somebody else's."

Afterwards, Huff said that was the first time he ever heard Jimmy Brown protest on a football field. What Paul Brown's players thought about him when he was winning didn't matter. Winning is a defense against all charges in professional sports. But the attitude of the help becomes important to owners when a team begins to lose. It is time that Paul Brown examined his relations with his athletes.

Being able to make a living in baseball still astonished Yogi Berra, who has signed a contract for another year to play for the Yankees.

"I never thought I'd be getting good money after 16 years," he said.

"Money doesn't matter to you," a guy said. "You're the richest player in baseball."

"Are you kidding?" Berra said. "You ever hear about Stan Musial?"

"Anyway," the journalist said. "You got a million."

"I ain't got a million," Berra said. "But I got half of one."

Then there was the time Hamey dropped by St. Louis to talk to Berra about wages. The general manager, who was then the assistant to George Weiss, offered Berra a salary which he said was a final figure. The catcher demanded more.

"We've reached an impasse," Hamey said.

"What the hell is an impasse?" Berra asked.

Yogi heard Hamey tell the story last week.

"Maybe I didn't know what an impasse was," Berra said. "But I got more money than you wanted to give me."

There is no doubt about it. The star of the Yankees is Mickey Mantle, not Roger Maris. I ran into Roy Hamey the other night. I wondered what was new in his negotiations with Maris.

"You talk to the big guy lately about signing?" I asked the general manager.

"We signed our big guy," he answered. "Mantle."

At a banquet recently, Joe Louis, who owes a fortune in income taxes, was asked to identify the opponent who hit him the hardest blow.

"Uncle Sam," answered Louis.

Of course, there isn't a boycott against Carl Furillo. He is through as a competitor. I don't know if he would make a coach or a scout, but he claims there is a conspiracy to keep him from such jobs.

He was some player. The Dodgers won a pennant with him leading off and then got another with him hitting cleanup. Guys have become batting coaches with fewer qualifications.

They were talking about a cheap fight manager in P. J. Clarke's last night.

"Why he even tries to buy stamps wholesale," a man said.

Charlie Eckman, the referee, believes basketball should be played by four-man teams. After watching the New York Knickerbockers, even that seems too many.

Russians Bid For Davis Cup

MELBOURNE (AP) — The Soviet Union, which has boasted it will win the Davis Cup by 1964, was included in the first round of this year's European zone competition in the draw announced Tuesday by the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia.

It's an impressive total for the first year.

All will get a chance to play Saturday with nine games scheduled to include all divisions.

First game starts at 7 p.m. Admission is nominal and a number of door prizes will be given away. All proceeds go towards future minor activities.

periods sans timeouts. Two

Vancouver Island Amateur

League teams, Navy and IAA, will play an exhibition at 9:30 to round out the evening.

Heading the list of players are members of two lines ranked among the greatest in National Hockey League history.

Boston Bruins' famed Kraut

Line of Milt Schmidt, Woody

Dumart and Bobby Bauer will line up with the "White" team.

Most notable unit performing for the Blues is Chicago

Black Hawks' Pony Line of the

'40s — Bill Moisienko, Max and Doug Bentley.

Jack McGill, formerly with

St. Paul and Kansas City in the NHL, is the star of the lineup.

At a banquet recently, Joe Louis, who owes a fortune in income taxes, was asked to identify the opponent who hit him the hardest blow.

"Uncle Sam," answered Louis.

At the end of the game, the old-timers' lineups will be drawn.

BABE PRATT

the old U.S. League, will play goal for the Whites while

Tiger Mitchell, best remembered as a member of the old

New York Rovers, will guard the Blues' cage.

Rounding out the White

team are defencemen Babe

Pratt, Neil Colville, Frank

Warshawski and Bill Hutton, forwards Clint Smith, Bill Wilson, Larry Reardon, Al Ritt-man, Joe Evans, Bérard Strongman and Ken Gunter.

Joining Mitchell and the Pony Line on the Blues will be defencemen Les Vickery, Hy

Buller, Hal Laycock, Dave Mac-

Kay and George McPherson, forwards Bobby Love, Red

Carr, Connie McBeth, Al Se-

Laycock, now coaching Port-

TEE TOPICS

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Something special for Victoria's centennial celebrations? A pair of Gorge Vale's favorite citizens offer this plan: a one-hole medal match.

As far as one-hole medals go, this would be the longest ever played in Canada.

Caterer Vern Ferguson and assistant pro Mel Carlow submit a match that would start on the first tee at Nanaimo's new course and end on the 18th green at Gorge Vale.

They'd play it right down the Island Highway with two stroke penalties for lost balls.

It has been estimated that the match would take four to five days to cover the 77, or so, miles.

Fergie and Carlow would be willing to make the trek and I understand the Jaycees are having a look at the possibilities of promoting such a match.

Then there's another angle to the match. How many strokes? Think of the pool we could get started . . .

The weekend's cold spell forced postponement of the button matches until next Sunday. Cedar Hill's first open button-holders, Dick Munn and Carey Greenwood, make their initial defence against Colwood's Laurie Kerr and George Andrews.

That match is scheduled for Victoria Golf Club along with the junior meeting between holders John Hadfield and Pete Gillan of Uplands and Gorge Vale's challenging team of Earl Francis and Rick Nott.

And on the subject of button play, certainly one of the most successful pairings to come along in years are the senior champions from Colwood, the Rev. Harry Pike and Jimmy Dalziel.

They're ready to step into their second year as senior button-holders.

The impregnable Colwood pairing defeated Uplands' Tom Whittemore and Ted Williams last week at Victoria club. This week they move back to their own course to take on Charlie Robertson and Arnold Edmonds.

SHORT CHIPS: It's definite, if not official: Annual B.C. left-handers' tournament will be played in Victoria Sept. 8 and 9, and they're already making plans to bring back the southpaws in 1964.

R. T. Alexander of Vancouver, a charter member of the B.C. Left-Handers' Golf Association, visited our town last week to check on arrangements for the provincial tournament . . . He left with high hopes of having the North American event here in '65.

Second and third aces of the new year went to Gerry Harris and Bert Osborough, respectively . . . Harris connected for his hole-in-one on Gorge Vale's second-hole, while Bert aced the eighth at Oak Bay . . . Annual meeting of the Victoria District Golf Committee is set for Feb. 1, a week after the BCGA meets in Vancouver . . . And if you want another sign of changing times, Gary Player won pro money-winning honors last year with a nice, round $64,540 . . . When Ben Hogan led the parade to the banks in 1942, his tournament earnings totalled only $13,143.

'Not Tough Enough,' Too Many Finishers

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The fiery crash of a British Austin, 25 miles from the finish line, marred the finish of the 2,400-mile endurance test of the Monte Carlo auto rally Tuesday.

The car, which had started the night-and-day drive on Saturday from Paris, flipped over several times after a rear wheel hit a rock on the mountain road less than an hour from the finish line.

Driver Rauno Aaltonan of Britain suffered facial burns when his door jammed and he could not escape as the car lay on its roof and burst into

BRITISH ATHLETES CLAIM

Victorian-Minded AAU In Need of New Ideas

By PAUL WESTBROOK

LONDON (CP) — The track and field revolt in the United States may have repercussions in Britain this year.

Many leading athletes and their followers here are dissatisfied with the way the sport is being run. The discontented U.S. trackmen want to break away from the present administration. Less drastic steps are likely in Britain.

The rumpus owes its origin to the resignation last year of Geoff Dyson, Jim Alford and Lionel Pugh, three of the five coaches in the Amateur Athlete Association's coaching scheme.

They said they were fed up with the treatment they received from officials who take exception to professionalism in sport. Their efforts, they claimed, were frustrated by Victorian-minded administrators who resented their advice.

They said they were fed up with the treatment they received from officials who take exception to professionalism in sport. Their efforts, they claimed, were frustrated by Victorian-minded administrators who resented their advice.

UNPAID COACHES

More full-time coaches are badly needed but AAA secretary Ernest Clynes says there isn't enough cash to pay them.

Meanwhile, the bulk of the work is done by some 2,000 honorary coaches in their spare time.

Lack of money certainly is the problem. The sport's income relies on proceeds from meets, television fees, donations from private firms and money raised by pools. The coaching scheme—costing £10,000 a year—swallows up most of the cash.

A decline in spectator interest is adding to Clynes' headaches. International meets at London's White City stadium once drew crowds of 40,000. Last year attendances rarely rose above 20,000.

Nobody doubts that the present officials are dedicated. They give their services free but they are getting on in years and seem unable to adopt new ideas to solve the sport's problems.

WANT CENTRAL BODY

Leading the struggle for a new setup is the International Athlete Club, formed by international trackmen three years ago.

At first the IAC contented itself with raising funds to coach juniors, but now it has joined newspapers and fans in a bid to get track and field back on its feet.

The militant athletes also want the administration tidied up. At present there are numerous independent bodies scattered around the country. A centralized United Kingdom body, they say, would allow what money there is to be distributed better.

BROKEN-TIME PAY

Like the Americans, they also want broken-time payments. Athletes frequently have to go on overseas tours without any compensation for loss of wages.

There has been a national call to vote the present rulers out of power. Whether or not this move will succeed is in the balance but Clynes and company will certainly be in for a hot time in 1962.

Considering that the vast bulk of such games are free, you wouldn't think that this would be necessary, but the hard facts are that they stay away in droves.

Hockey continues to be as well supported as ever, with screaming fans not the least nonplussed that the Viking team has lost steadily since its return to the ice after Christmas.

Friday night's game, in fact, attracted a fan not usually present at such functions—a black ram wearing a college scarf and advertising Saturday's ceremonies at the college's new campus, who found the ice rather uneasy footing until he was lifted into the stands by friends.

After watching the Vikings lose to Pontiac Chiefs, the black ram and his admirers retired to a nearby restaurant for a snack.

HE GETS MONEY BACK—BECAUSE BOX WAS COLD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Candlestick Park, where a pitcher was blown off the mound during an all-star baseball game, was involved in another zany first Tuesday.

A jury of 10 women and two men took only 20 minutes to award lawyer Melvin Belli $1,597, the season's price in 1960 for a box, because the box proved to be cold.

Belli, known for his handling of damage suit cases, had charged San Francisco Giants with breach of warranty because an advertised radiant heating system for the box didn't work.

The verdict giving Belli his money back involved only the baseball company.

The Giants announced they will appeal.

VIKING VIEWS

Eric Is Unhappy With Tide Picks

By LES MILLIN

Eric Sadler, the rotund and bearded coach of Victoria College's Viking rugby XV, is a man of few words who has decided that now is the time to say them.

"I should be nominated for coach-of-the-year," he says bitterly, "because I have a team that only one other club in Victoria has been able to beat, but it's made up almost entirely of clunks that couldn't make the Crimson Tide.

"I know, because only one of them made the Tide, and he might well have been invited to England if he had made the Crimson Tide. He was invited to the trial game, and they played him out of position. He did all right, but he was out of position.

"The only man from the college they did play in position was Ian Appleton, and he was the only Viking to make the team.

"Second team in the city," broods Sadler, "and only one man with the Crimson Tide.

"I must be the best coach team to defeat them so far this year.

"What I really feel hostile about," continues Sadler more easily, "is our man John Wenman.

"John is the best break-forward on Vancouver Island, and he might well have been invited to England if he had made the Crimson Tide. He was invited to the trial game, and they played him out of position.

"The Tide selection board is made up of one man from the Oak Bay Wanderers and one from the James Bay Athletics.

"Right now I have five players that should be with the Tide, three of them certainly."

Victoria College Vikings are currently second in the Victoria Rugby Union first division, behind the Oak Bay Wanderers White side, the only of the year."

This is Sports Week at Victoria College, with all members of campus sports teams wandering around wearing signs designating the sport they play.

'Compromise Any Moment' Says Bonner

As far as B.C. is concerned if anyone compromises on the Columbia River power development plan, it will be Ottawa.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner made this clear Tuesday.

He was replying to a statement made by federal Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton in Ottawa that he hoped to promote "a change in attitude" on the part of B.C. in the deadlock on financing and disposal of downstream benefits.

B.C. insists the benefits be sold to the U.S. to finance Columbia dams in Canada; Ottawa refuses to allow long-term sale of all the benefits.

"I'm sure the federal government will compromise any moment now," was Mr. Bonner's answer to Mr. Fulton.

Fuel Ripped From Walls To Survive Wintry Ordeal

LAKEVIEW, Ore. (AP) - A young man carried an ailing companion through biting cold and drifting snow from a stalled truck to a cabin last Friday, then kept both alive for days by burning the cabin walls bit by bit in a wood stove.

The temperature dropped to an estimated 35 degrees below zero in the high desert country east of Lakeview, near the Oregon-Nevada border where the men were trapped.

A highway department crew came upon Robert Flury, 19, Roseburg, Ore., Monday trying to get back to the truck to get help for his companion, Jack Finlay, about 60.

Finlay, reached by a rescue party and brought to Lakeview Hospital Monday night, was in serious to critical condition on Tuesday. His fingers and toes were frozen.

GOING TO MINE

The two men left Roseburg Thursday morning for a mine near Denio, Ore.

Some 25 miles east of Adel, where the highway dips into Nevada, they ran into one of the worst snowstorms to sweep across the desolate, unpopular area in years. Their truck stalled. They spent Thursday night in it.

Next morning Flury half carried, half dragged Finlay a mile and a quarter to a cabin.

Flury said he ripped boards from the inside of the walls and kept a fire going in a stove.

$1-a-Ton Hike In Coal Price

Victoria fuel dealers raised the price of coal $1 a ton across the board Tuesday to meet what they call higher service costs.

One dealer said it puts the price of coal at $20.35 a ton for the cheaper grades to $23.85 for Comox, $25.35 for Drumheller and $26.10 for Galt coal.

It is the first increase since 1958 and is due to producer price hikes, salary increases and higher running costs such as truck maintenance.

Ferry Discounts Revised by B.C.

Revised fares for trucks on the Departure Bay-Horseshoe Bay service, and for passengers on the "Sunshine Coast" routes were announced Tuesday by the B.C. government's Toll Authority.

The truck fares, effective Feb. 1, establish the same basic rate for all government ferries.

They represent changes in the former Black Ball-Horseshoe Bay-Departure Bay service as well as the Horseshoe Bay-Howe Sound "Sunshine Coast" routes.

DISCOUNT RATE

The new fares are higher than those charged by Black Ball before the government bought it out, but a special discount rate is introduced for truck commuters. It is lower than the Black Ball fares.

The cut rate gives a discount of up to 30 per cent to firms which spend as much as $1,000 every two months on the ferries.

SLIDING SCALE

When Black Ball owned the Horseshoe Bay-Departure Bay ferries, the truck fares were based on a sliding scale of 5 cents per 100 pounds for vehicles up to 35,000 pounds weight, 7½ cents up to 42,000, 6 cents over 42,000.

Now a flat 8 cents per 100 pounds will be charged.

However, to make up for this the Toll Authority is offering on all its ferries a special discount for purchasers of scrip, exchanged for tickets as each trip is made.

Purchasers of $100 to $400 worth of scrip will get a 10 per cent discount; $500 to $900 worth a 20 per cent discount; over $900 a 30 per cent discount.

BIG SAVING

Toll Authority official said this would mean a big saving for companies which use the ferries regularly. He said that some firms spend as much as $2,000 in one week on ferry tickets.

The new fares for the "Sunshine Coast" represent a small saving for car and passenger rates.

TWO FERRY COMPANIES OFFICIALLY WIPE OUT

The B.C. government has officially wiped out two ferry companies it bought for its Toll Authority last year. Incorporation of Black Ball Ferries Ltd. and Gulf Island Ferries (1951) Ltd. was declared revoked and canceled and the companies dissolved by a cabinet order Tuesday.

The order, nobody appeared to object at a cabinet hearing called for 3 p.m. Monday, so the official windup action was taken.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said the move was made because the companies "are vacant," and no longer have any officers.

"There is no further reason for their existence; there was nobody to wind them up."

MAYOR'S BIG HOPE

New Ownership For Island Mill?

COURTENAY — Hope that another company might take over operation of the Rayonier Canada Limited shingle mill at Fanny Bay, due to be shut down permanently Feb. 9, was expressed here by Mayor William Moore.

Moore, a member of a local committee which met with Rayonier officials in Vancouver Monday in an attempt to have the mill kept open.

They would not change their decision, claiming log supply, declining markets and location of the mill on Vancouver Island instead of at a mainland railhead made further operation unprofitable.

The closure will affect 80 employees, some of whom will have jobs offered them in other divisions of the company elsewhere in B.C. Until now the mill has provided the largest payroll in the immediate area.

Port Alberni To Get Tough On Pollution

COURTENAY — Game Warden Jim Osman is alarmed by the number of deer being killed by dogs.

He said the problem is an annual one, but the last session of the B.C. Legislature passed a law prohibiting wardens from shooting dogs caught running deer.

He added that dogs are the worst predators deer have to face, particularly at this time of year when does are heavy with young.

Ald. George Folkard was the chief complainant.

NO BUCK-PASSING

"I'm not going to tolerate any buck-passing on the part of the company officials," he said. "They are in a position where they can do something that they must do it."

Mayor Loran Jordon said he had spoken to mill personnel, who claimed there is nothing wrong with equipment that would cause such a condition.

"If nothing is done by the company we will have to have an air pollution bylaw," the mayor said. "It's a dirty mess."

Letters will go to James Petrie of the Alberni pulp and paper division, and Ian Brand, manager of the company's Alberni district sawmills. Copies will go to MB-PR headquarters in Vancouver.

ALERT BAY (CP) — A coroner's jury Monday cited "lack of supervision" in the deaths of five children in a fire which broke out after their parents left them unattended.

Jurors found that the fire in a small shack on an Indian reserve near this coastal fishing settlement was caused by an overheated wood stove.

They were inquiring into the deaths Friday night of Joseph, five; Harry, 18 months, and Freddie, six months, children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred West and Allan, three, and Maggie Alice, 18 months, children of Mr. and Mrs. George Walkus.

Witnesses said the fire truck was on the scene a minute after the alarm was turned in.

Arena Loses $28,000 Despite Greater Use

A backlog of late reports from Memorial Arena Commission today showed far more people used the civic building than ever before but it lost money.

Obvious reason was loss of professional hockey receipts.

The monthly reports, demanded by city council when the commission failed to provide them as required under a bylaw and a 1961 undertaking, were accompanied by an apology for the "oversight."

They showed, during the seven-month period ended Dec. 31:

Some 160,352 persons were admitted for various functions, an increase of more than 7,000 over the previous year. This included major boosts in public skating, wrestling and special events crowds to offset the loss of 37,891 customers for professional hockey in 1961.

$28,342 DEFICIT

The general public also obtained use of the area ice floor for 100 more hours in 1961 than in 1960.

But despite all the increased use, the financial statements showed a deficit of $28,342 for the period.

In recent years, it has made an operating surplus to help ease the burden of mortgage payments carried on the building by city taxpayers.

MONTE ROBERTS

Last Friday was a clear, sparkling day on the waterfront, and the world cruise ship Orcades was a handsome sight as she stopped off Ogden Point.

And I'm sure there was more than one landlubber with a longing for the sea who envied the small party of newspapermen privileged to be ferried out to the ship, and to board her for the crossing to Vancouver.

But before envy gets out of control, listen to a report from Dean Miller, press agent for the P & O-Orient Line, who went aboard with the newspapermen.

The party of 28 customs, immigration, health department and press members spent a hectic half-hour bobbing up and down near the liner as her master, Capt. John Birch, struggled to give the small boat lee protection.

It was the most difficult boarding since the P&O liners started the B.C. service in 1954. The small boat, the Zingaro II, had to spend another 30 minutes lying alongside the Orcades as Capt. Birch worked with engines and rudder to protect the Zingaro.

During this period, the Orcades drifted three miles toward the Victoria shore. Each member of the boarding party was hooked on to a safety belt before attempting to climb the companion ladder.

"I thought you'd like to report this to the waterside audience, Monte, who might have wondered why Orcades hung around so much longer than usual. Believe me, it wasn't because the boys were lingering over a gin and tonic before luncheon."

Thank you, Dean, for making it pleasant to stay ashore.

59-Lot Subdivision Approved by Oak Bay

An application by Hudson's Bay Co. to open a 59-lot subdivision in north Lansdowne has been approved by Oak Bay council.

Engineer Geoffrey White said the municipality probably will begin to install sewers, surface drains, water mains, street lighting, curbs, sidewalks and pavement in March.

Pending passage of bylaws, tenders would be called for rock blasting and sewer installation, and later for road paving.

It is the last subdivision of property in the area south of Cedar Hill, Cross Road, west of Henderson Road and east of university property.

Mr. White said the blasting contract alone would be for about $20,000, but overall local improvement costs charged to property owners would be no greater than normal.

The lots are laid out in an area of scrub oak, evergreens and rocky outcroppings that slope toward Henderson Road.

They are the result of joint efforts by Oak Bay planning staff and the company's con-

'Perfect Young Gentleman' Never Missed a Meal on Ocean Crossing

By HAL MALONE

A four-year-old arrived in Victoria today following an 8,000-mile sea voyage which he took with the aplomb of a Tsawwassen-Sidney crossing.

Audain said Supreme Verdict would get a month's rest "to get his land legs."

The traveller was Supreme Verdict, aristocratically-bred British thoroughbred colt, who has done all his racing in Ireland and England.

Audain and trainer Don Carley of Victoria Riding Academy, where he will be stabled, inspected Supreme Verdict aboard the ship early today.

He said Mrs. Hartley sustained fractures to her scalp, extensive lacerations and contusions and severe shock, requiring emergency treatment at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Counsel said the question of ownership of the car at the time of the accident would be an important factor in the case, which continued this afternoon.

deckhand, "the trip wasn't rough. It was a little warm through the Panama Canal but it didn't bother him."

Audain said Supreme Verdict would get a month's rest "to get his land legs."

He was brought to Canada because the Audains wanted to see their horse run here. He will be pointed for the Vancouver racing season.

Depending on his form, he may later be shipped south of the border or else sent to stud.

Light Up Your Image With Electric Mirror

By PENNY SAVER

Ever have the make-up blues? Just can't do a nice job because of poor lighting? Or does Dad growl in the early morn after nicking himself while shaving simply because he can't see what he was doing?

Solve your problem by investing in one of these dandy electric mirrors. They're round, and measure seven inches in circumference with a band of aluminum trim. The lower part of the face of the mirror has a frosted opening under which a small 5-watt electric bulb burns.

The grey plastic backs have switches, collapsible stands and screw-on covers for the light bulbs; mirrors are supplied with good long cords. Price? Only $3.98.

Usually the bathroom is the most popular place for women of all ages to apply make-up. Consequently there is immediately a "bug" to the male population of the household. All the bottles and tubes that are so important to us, are strictly "for the birds" to the fellows.

You could please him and, at the same time, put everything at your fingertips by investing in some handy cosmetic bags.

Square shaped with drawstring top and white plastic piping these bags feature your choice of floral patterns, 18th century motif or—for the teens—"hot" music patterns.

Wonderful for hanging in the bath or for travel. Price now is only 69 cents.

Something else for the bathroom that no family should be without, is a nail brush.

Saw some plastic-handled brushes with synthetic bristles that were selling from 19 cents to 50 cents. Might be a good idea to pick up two, one for emergency.

Curious to know where I was shopping today? If you call me I'll tell you.

Little Things Become Big In Life—and in Beauty Too

Sometimes it's the little things which count up big in life. "It's the way we spend our hours and the way we spend or save our pennies. It's the small, thoughtful things others do for us, or we do for them. Most divorces are caused by many small lacks and irritants rather than one big betrayal of any kind.

Today, attractiveness, as we think of it, is within the reach of every woman if she is willing to work for it in many seemingly small but vastly important ways. Remember what someone once said, "Genius is an infinite capacity for taking pains."

Such small "loyalties" as daily cleansing and lubrication of the skin, the constant use of hand lotion and a body lotion, daily scalp massage, daily exercise, regular sleep, intelligent food intake, careful care of the teeth, and an awareness of posture, will lead you to a lovely complexion and shining hair, a good figure, a newspaper.

PYRAMID LINE

PARIS (Reuters) — Pierre Balmain compares his spring silhouette to a narrow, elongated pyramid in his showing for spring this week.

The symbolism emerges in narrow, slanted shoulders and conical skirts, widened with gores or easy pleats. Natural waistlines are nipped by wide leather belts, beneath snug bodies shaped to undercut the bosom.

In Balmain's traditional grand manner, a "foreign intrigue" trench coat is made entirely of white ermine. It is listed as a "travelling ensemble" paired with a pure white, pleated crepe sheath dress.

Here's how to gather compliments wherever you go this spring, wearing a suit that marks the new direction of fashion which is feminine all the way. Minus frills and fuss, Irene Gilbert endows her clothes with the surest kind of flattery, that which is based on simplicity and subtle detail as expressed here so beautifully. Slotted princess seams gently shape the jacket front, curving gracefully into a shoulder yoke to add width where it's most important; the back is smooth and straight. Slot-seaming is repeated on the skirt's slim front panel, restating the suit's supple slenderness. To emphasize the season's soft look, tuck a feathered scarf into the collarless neckline. Separate jacket and skirt patterns give you the advantage of ordering different sizes if needed. Choose soft wools, tweed, faille, shantung, suiting rayons, silks, linens or cottons. From these corresponding body measurements choose the one size best for you. Our sizing is comparable to that used for better ready-to-wear.

Bridal Couple Met by Honor Guard of Girls' Drill Team

A guard of honor formed by members of Victoria Giris' Drill corps met Mr. and Mrs. Byron William Jeeves as they left Garden City United Church following their wedding Friday evening. Rev. J. Staley officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the former Elfie Doreen Jernslet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jernslet of Violet Avenue, and the groom is son of Inspector F. L. Jeeves, RCMP, and Mrs. Jeeves of Prince Rupert.

White and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the church. An organ solo was played by Mrs. T. Crossland during signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy, white silk satin peau de soie with a scooped neckline and lily point sleeves. Skirt had deep pleats billowing over hip panniers to a slight train. A rhinestone and pearl tiara held her finger-tip veil of illusion net and she carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Mrs. W. M. Moore, bridesmaid, chose a floor-length gown of gold satin brocade. Her headpiece was a rhinestone tiara and her cascade bouquet was white and gold chrysanthemums.

Junior bridesmaid, Miss Janet Myhre, wore a matching floor-length gown and a bow hat of the same material. She carried a bouquet of white and gold chrysanthemums.

Best man was Lieut. W. M. Moore and ushering guests to their pews were Errol Jernslet, brother of the bride, and brother of the groom, Gary Jeeves.

Reception was held in the Carlton Club where a three-tiered wedding cake centred the bride's table which was decorated with yellow roses. E. V. Davies proposed a toast to the bride.

For travelling on honeymoon, the bride chose a brown mink trimmed suit, brown shoes and purse, beige velvet hat and gloves and a muskrat jacket. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses.

Following their honeymoon in Vancouver and Seattle the new Mr. and Mrs. Jeeves will make their home in Victoria.

AIR STEWARDESSES ON PENSION

MONTREAL (CP) — Reit Kremer, 50, believes she is the first air stewardess ever to retire on pension.

Miss Kremer's flight to her native Holland marked the end of a 22-year career with KLM.

"There are only about 30 KLM stewardesses left who are eligible to retire and go on pension," she said. "Now the company only contracts stewardesses for a period of five years."

"I'm the first of an almost extinct breed."

DEAR ABBY . . .

There's a Reason Why!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me what kind of mother I am. While my friends and neighbors are bragging about their children, I have to stand by and keep my mouth shut. The reason is, I can't think of anything good to say about mine. They are miserable, selfish, disagreeable brats. I love my children, but let's face it, they are monsters. I have tried every kind of punishment in the book and so has my husband, so it isn't that we haven't tried to teach and train them. All we can look forward to is increasing the population of juvenile delinquents. Am I the only mother in this boat?

WISH I'D STAYED SINGLE

DEAR WISH: Your "miserable, selfish, disagreeable brats" were not that way at birth. You have failed somehow as parents.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I am just plain stupid, but I would like to know why teen-aged girls need to carry around great big purses that weigh around 10 pounds apiece.

TEEN-AGED BOY

DEAR BOY: Because they want to have a comb, hairbrush, compact, at least a dozen lipsticks, eyebrow pencil, eye-liner, mirror, wallet, bobby pins, sunglasses, chewing gum, safety pins, cough drops, pocket dictionary, needle, thread, scissors, glue, tape, autograph book, fountain pen, ink, pencil, nail polish, hair spray, a pack of old love letters and a 10-pound weapon with them at all times.

DEAR ABBY: Ever since my husband bought me an electric sewing machine I have been a free sewing service for his entire family. Right now I have 10 pairs of boys' jeans on my table with instructions to "taper the legs." They don't even put a pin in them to show me how much. And the boys refuse to come over and try them on. My blood pressure is high to begin with, and this will put me in my grave.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

DEAR HIGH: Don't worry about losing the friendship of free-loaders. Tell them your patience is hanging by a thread and either they should send the boys over for fittings or go elsewhere and pay for alterations.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WIFE HUNTING": Take a good look at their mothers. Avoid the beauties. They're in love with themselves.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Marriage in Two Languages

Wedding vows were read in English and German, last Sunday, at 2:30 in the Seventh-Day Adventist Church for Miss Monica Simon and Hans Kroenke, Pastor Arthur M. Spenst officiated while Siegried Spieker, Vancouver, translated.

Music was provided by Hans Honicke playing "Intermezzo" on the violin with Mrs. George Reid as accompanist, and Mrs.

Jack Weiss, Sidney, singing "O Perfect Love" during signing of the register. Mrs. Nick Tkachuk, Sidney, was organist.

Given in marriage by Hans Honicke, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, the bride wore a gown styled with lace bodice, wrist-length sleeves, and a full skirt of taffeta and tulle. Her chapel-length veil was held with a mother-of-pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, pink rosebuds and fern.

Gowned in pale blue dresses of lace and nylon, her attendants were: Matron of honor, Mrs. Hans Honicke, sister of the groom; bridesmaids, Miss Annelene Laufenberg and Miss Beverley Clifford. They carried colonial bouquets of shell pink carnations. Miss Donna Spenst, flower girl, carried a basket of white daisy petals.

Groom's attendants were Manford Schmidtke, Vancouver, and Valde Honishevsky.

A reception was held at Hill Memorial School following the wedding.

After a wedding trip up-Island, Mr. and Mrs. Kroenke will live at 703 Pine St.

EAST GERMANS TO BE DRAFTED

EAST BERLIN (Reuters)—The Volkskammer (parliament) today passed a bill giving East Germany military conscription for the first time.

The conscription law allows drafting of East German men 18 to 26 for 18 months of basic military training. In addition, the government can order up to three months' annual reserve service for all men up to 35, and up to two months for those up to 50, or 60 in the case of officers.

The timing and extent of the actual recruiting was left up to the defence minister.

East German armed forces, which presumably will be increased by the new conscription bill, were officially totalled at 90,000 when the East Berlin border was closed last August.

Since then, the government claims, a recruiting drive has added 250,000 volunteers.

West German sources say the present total is about 200,000—comprising 176,000 army, 14,000 navy and 10,000 air force.

In addition, the sources say, there are 30,000 mobile police equipped with tanks and armored cars, 80,000 police with infantry training, 400,000 armed "factory fighting groups," and 53,000 members of the para-military "Society for Sports and Technology."

West German forces, a defence ministry spokesman said today, total 275,000, and the recruiting drive is expected to bring this to 420,000. West Germany also has introduced a conscription bill.

VISIT to the United States in March is planned by President Moise Tshombe of Katanga. A Katanga spokesman said he has been invited by newspapermen's groups, radio and TV networks, universities and other organizations.

Burglars Get One-Year Jail Terms

Two men each received a year's prison sentence in Saanich police court Tuesday after admitting charges of breaking and entering Oakcrest Grocery, 3475 Quadra.

Floyd McLean and James Russell, no fixed addresses, faced a joint charge of attempting to break and enter the premises Jan. 13.

McLean also admitted attempting to enter the store on Jan. 9, and breaking and entering and committing theft there on Jan. 6.

HAD REVOLVER

Russell pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft at the same premises Jan. 6 and to possession of a .38 calibre revolver.

Magistrate William Ostler sentenced them each to a year in prison on all the charges of breaking and entering, and sentenced Russell to seven days for possession of the revolver. All sentences will run concurrently.

Delegation Sees Commission On Compensation

A union delegation came away from a cabinet meeting Tuesday firmly convinced the B.C. government soon will launch a Royal Commission on workmen's compensation.

Announcement of the inquiry is expected during the session of the legislature which opens Thursday.

A thorough overhaul of the Workmen's Compensation Act, financing and coverage were major requests in the brief to the cabinet today of the western division of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

District president Harvey Murphy said that while Premier Bennett and his cabinet would not say definitely there will be a Royal Commission, they didn't say no, either.

"We got the impression very clearly there is one coming," said Mr. Murphy.

Mr. Murphy cited as one example of the deficiency of the present compensation procedure a claim for a silicosis widow which he estimated will cost $15,000 in legal expenses to get $6,000 compensation—if successful.

Man, 68, Suffers Fatal Attack Working on Roof

Funeral services were held Tuesday for a 68-year-old Gordon Head man who suffered a heart attack Saturday on the roof of his home.

Ernest Hill, 456 Bonnyview Place, apparently was working on his television antenna when overcome by the attack about 1:55 p.m.

Police were called by a neighbor and a Saanich fire department inhalator crew was sent out but found him dead.

A mechanic by trade and former owner of Hill's Dry Cleaning, he was born in Sheffield, England, but came to Canada at an early age and lived in North Battleford, Sask., before moving to Victoria in 1919.

He is survived by the widow, Bertha, at home; two sons, Kenneth in Vancouver and Bernard in Victoria; a sister, Mrs. B. Harding in Victoria; a brother, Arthur in Victoria; and five grandchildren.

Bid Within $400 Of City Estimate

A new public works building at the city's Garibaldi yard will be erected by Farmer Construction Ltd. low bidder on the job awarded by council last week.

The company's bid of $67,239.19 plus an extra $2,380 for lighting fixtures purchased by the city, is within $400 of the engineering staff estimate of $70,000.

"Not bad estimating. The staff is to be commended." Ald. Michael Griffin said when public works committee met to make the award.

Public Attitude To Crime Rapped

HAMILTON, Ont. (UPI)—Canada's top policeman finds the public's attitude toward crime sometimes exasperating. Commissioner C. W. Harvison of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said that the public has the attitude toward the police of "big brother is watching us; we won't kill ourselves—if he isn't, we will."

Renewal Plan Under-Study On Thursday

City Hall is moving steadily ahead in its efforts to digest the $5,000,000 urban renewal plan that grew out of a year-long survey.

A meeting of departmental heads and a council committee has been scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday to study the plan and how various sections can be implemented with existing powers.

This is the third step in the study process recommended by the Capital Region Planning Board's report. Appointment of a citizens' advisory committee for a report and study of the financial implications of the plan already have been undertaken.

Under the CRPB schedule, it still will be several months before city council reaches the moment for a make or break decision on the plan.

Mental Care Program Hit in Saskatchewan

REGINA (CP)—Standards between what is known and its application. The fault must be laid squarely on the unwillingness of responsible authorities and the people who elect them to remove the discrimination against the mentally ill.

The mentally ill in Saskatchewan are "second-class citizens," said the provincial division of the Canadian Mental Health Association in a brief.

"This is not due to lack of knowledge. In the field of general medicine, there is little discrepancy between what is known and its application for the welfare of the physically ill."

The submission called for "removal of all discrimination against mentally ill by government and medical insurance agencies." It also called for federal help for mental hospitals on the same basis as for general hospitals.

"In the field of psychiatric care, there is an enormous lag between what is known and its application. The fault must be laid squarely on the unwillingness of responsible authorities and the people who elect them to remove the discrimination against the mentally ill."

Departments of public health had two sets of care standards:

A "very admirable" set enforced on all general hospitals, and a "much inferior" set applied to mental hospitals.

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Bob Hope scared some friends here when he telephoned them his doctor wanted him to take a rest and he might have to get a new doctor—they didn't recognize it as a version of the joke, "My doctor told me to quit drinking so I'm going to change doctors," or Joe E. Bob makes a Big Name out of Rosemary ("Miss World") Frankland on his Wednesday NBC-TV show... not that she isn't pretty big herself. ... ## Mountain Comes And Goes

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)

A towering mountain range, five miles long and several thousand feet high, has made an appearance over the waters of Lake Labarge, 20 miles north of here.

However, the event has had little excitement. It's a mirage.

The mountain range mirage, first noticed from the department of transport air field control tower here, made its appearance late last week. It has reappeared every day since then.

The weatherman here says the mirage is a result of a cold air inversion, with warm upper air holding down cold surface air.

The mirage resembling the mesa country of the southwestern United States, is expected to fade away in a few days.

 Martha Errolle, Wilbur Evans and Harry Snow, favorites of mine, are in "Music in the Air," the new show at the Pierre—which made for a great evening (adding Terry O'Sullivan and Phyllis Arick).

Two high-priced comedy writers, Coleman Jacoby (for Gary Moore), and Gig Rosene (for Bob Hope) were there sober-faced not making a funny remark in 2½ hours. Jacoby is author of the classic line, "Women don't like mistakes—they don't look good in

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Saverio Saridis, the singing cop, will join Rhonda Fleming's touring "Night With Gershwin" musicals... The opening of the Manhattan Playboy Club has been set back to September... Leo Durocher's Harwyn date was a pretty brunt... Tony Quinn said at Cavanagh's he'd like to film the bio of the late boxer Tony Ganzoneri... When Red Buttons—who worked 22 weeks in "Hatar!"—is asked what the title means, he answers, "To me it means social security."

MONDAY 'WALKDAY' FACES LONDONERS

LONDON (Reuters)—Millions of London travellers face the threat of a one-day-a-week total stoppage on the British capital's subway system.

Representatives of more than 18,000 subway workers decided overwhelmingly today to hold a series of Monday strikes beginning next week until the London Transport System agrees to their pay claim.

Catamaran Missing Down Coast

The U.S. Coast Guard is carrying out a search today for two men who left Victoria in November aboard a flimsy, 18-foot catamaran for a "leisurely voyage" down the Pacific coast to Mexico.

The Coast Guard said the twin-hulled, home-made craft, equipped with small outboard motor and sail, was believed to carry Bernhardt Abel, 34, and Franz Giers, 21.

The two men left La Push, on the west coast of the Olympic Peninsula, about 2 a.m. Sunday. The craft was last seen by the lighthouse keeper at Destruction Island about noon Sunday.

They were believed headed for Grays Harbor.

STARTED SEARCH

A third member of the crew when the catamaran left Victoria, Wolfgang Giffels, 22, hitchhiked from La Push to Grays Harbor Sunday, and set the search in motion when he could not locate his friends.

The Coast Guard has combed the shoreline from La Push to the Columbia River, to a distance eight miles at sea, but no sign of the frail craft has been seen.

A fourth member of the expedition when the catamaran left here in November was Clark Huffman, 19, of Trenton, Ont., who hitchhiked to Vancouver and joined the group by answering an advertisement placed by Abel, leader of the group.

BACK TO CANADA

The coast guard believes Huffman has returned to Canada. First reports cited Huffman as owner of the craft, but Abel said while in Victoria it was a co-operative venture, with all four men helping to build and finance the boat at a cost of about $1,200.

Abel, a freelance photographer, had hoped to make money on the trip by selling still and motion picture pictures and feature stories.

From Victoria the four men crossed to Port Angeles, and ran into trouble when they holed a pontoon landing on the U.S. shore.

They returned to Vancouver, original starting point for the venture, but resumed the trip in December. Abel checked with customs at Neah Bay before moving on to La Push, where the craft remained for about a month.

It is not known when Huffman left the expedition to return to Canada.

Space 'Buckshot' Misses Target

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Rocket failure today ruined an attempt to boost five satellites into orbit simultaneously to probe a number of space mysteries.

The space quintuplets hurtled into the sky at 4:30 a.m. EST (1:30 PST) cradled in the nose of an 80-foot Thor-Bee Star rocket.

The first stage of the 55-ton rocket performed normally and observers saw the second stage ignite.

But 20 minutes after launching the defence department announced that the upper stage failed to build up sufficient thrust after ignition and the entire rocket assembly plunged in the Atlantic far off range.

The failure wrecked the United States' most ambitious multiple payload experiment to date. Attempts have been

MLAs Go Into Huddle On Session Strategy

By FRANK BUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Politicians went into caucus today in preparation for Thursday's official opening of the session.

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will do the honors at 3 p.m. accompanied by a 100-man Royal Guard and a 15-gun salute outside the Legislative Buildings.

After his ceremonial entry into the legislative chamber (he will be clad in his special civil dress uniform with gold braid) Gen. Pearkes will read the Speech from the Throne, outlining government plans for the session.

PLAN STRATEGY
Meanwhile, today the new Democratic-CCF Party and the Liberals huddled in caucus to plan their sessional campaigns.

Social Crediters will meet later.

One of the first moves by the NDP-CCF will be a formal request on the floor of the House for a change of name from plain CCF.

Once the change has been approved by the 52 MLAs, they will hyphenate until the next provincial election, when they will become plain New Democrats.

MOST HERE
Most of the MLAs were in town today: There are 32 Social Crediters, 16 NDP-CCF and four Liberals.

About 350 of the 575 guests expected to witness Thursday's ceremony will sit in special chairs on the floor of the House. Friday the MLAs' desks will be moved in and regular business will begin.

First government speaker at the session this year will be Victoria's Waldo Skillings, who will move the reply to the Throne Speech.

Next up will be Dudley Little (SC-Skeena), the second speaker.

FIRST OF THREE
This was to have been the first of three major U.S. space efforts scheduled this week. On Friday, an Atlas-Agena rocket is slated to hurl a Ranger 3 payload to the moon to take closeup television pictures and land an instrument package on the lunar surface.

The attempt to orbit astronaut John H. Glenn, Jr., is set for Saturday.

Officials said the $3,500,000

vehicle fell into the sea "well south of Cuba."

Mayor Pushes Merger Study Despite Committee Setback

Catamaran Missing Down Coast

The U.S. Coast Guard is carrying out a search today for two men who left Victoria in November aboard a flimsy, 18-foot catamaran for a "leisurely voyage" down the Pacific coast to Mexico.

The Coast Guard said the twin-hulled, home-made craft, equipped with small outboard motor and sail, was believed to carry Bernhardt Abel, 34, and Franz Giers, 21.

The two men left La Push, on the west coast of the Olympic Peninsula, about 2 a.m. Sunday. The craft was last seen by the lighthouse keeper at Destruction Island about noon Sunday.

They were believed headed for Grays Harbor.

STARTED SEARCH

A third member of the crew when the catamaran left Victoria, Wolfgang Giffels, 22, hitchhiked from La Push to Grays Harbor Sunday, and set the search in motion when he could not locate his friends.

The Coast Guard has combed the shoreline from La Push to the Columbia River, to a distance eight miles at sea, but no sign of the frail craft has been seen.

A fourth member of the expedition when the catamaran left here in November was Clark Huffman, 19, of Trenton, Ont., who hitchhiked to Vancouver and joined the group by answering an advertisement placed by Abel, leader of the group.

BACK TO CANADA

The coast guard believes Huffman has returned to Canada. First reports cited Huffman as owner of the craft, but Abel said while in Victoria it was a co-operative venture, with all four men helping to build and finance the boat at a cost of about $1,200.

Abel, a freelance photographer, had hoped to make money on the trip by selling still and motion picture pictures and feature stories.

From Victoria the four men crossed to Port Angeles, and ran into trouble when they holed a pontoon landing on the U.S. shore.

They returned to Vancouver, original starting point for the venture, but resumed the trip in December. Abel checked with customs at Neah Bay before moving on to La Push, where the craft remained for about a month.

It is not known when Huffman left the expedition to return to Canada.

Space 'Buckshot' Misses Target

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Rocket failure today ruined an attempt to boost five satellites into orbit simultaneously to probe a number of space mysteries.

The space quintuplets hurtled into the sky at 4:30 a.m. EST (1:30 PST) cradled in the nose of an 80-foot Thor-Bee Star rocket.

The first stage of the 55-ton rocket performed normally and observers saw the second stage ignite.

But 20 minutes after launching the defence department announced that the upper stage failed to build up sufficient thrust after ignition and the entire rocket assembly plunged in the Atlantic far off range.

The failure wrecked the United States' most ambitious multiple payload experiment to date. Attempts have been

Cuba Faces Ouster From OAS

PUNTA DEL ESTE (Reuters)—Foreign ministers of the Organization of American States started working sessions in this Uruguayan resort today with nine of 21 countries opposed to immediate collective OAS action against pro-Communist Cuba.

But eight of the nine against collective action were reported agreed that Cuba had forfeited its right to OAS membership. The ninth was Cuba itself.

Colombia and Guatemala urged drastic action immediately against the government of Premier Fidel Castro, supporting known United States wishes. The opening session was delayed from Monday because of the split over collective action.

Guatemalan Foreign Minister Jesus Unda Murillo urged severest sanctions now and said decisions taken at the conference should be officially communicated to certain friendly countries outside the inter-American defence system, such as Canada, with a request for co-operation from them.

NEUTRALIST STAND

Mexican Foreign Minister Manuel Tello, the second speaker to take the floor, put forth the "neutralist" position, which is supported by Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, Chile, Ecuador, Haiti and Uruguay.

For a proposal to become obligatory to all OAS members, it must receive 14 of 21 votes. Cuba is participating in the conference.

Tello's position was that Cuba forfeited membership in the OAS as a result of its Communist bloc ties, but this was no excuse for "intervention."

Colombian Foreign Minister Jose Joaquin Caideco earlier called on all Western Hemisphere republics to break diplomatic and economic relations with Cuba.

He told Western Hemisphere foreign ministers that Cuba's military buildup and its capacity to acquire unlimited arms "through subordination to the Soviet bloc" made it a danger to the continent's equilibrium of power.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE

The announcement made no mention of Tunisia and appeared to be a sharp slap at Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba. He has been the leader in previous efforts to realize some sort of unity for the Maghreb, the Arab designation of the Arab world.

Meanwhile, today the new Democratic-CCF Party and the Liberals huddled in caucus to plan their sessional campaigns.

Social Crediters will meet later.

One of the first moves by the NDP-CCF will be a formal request on the floor of the House for a change of name from plain CCF.

Once the change has been approved by the 52 MLAs, they will hyphenate until the next provincial election, when they will become plain New Democrats.

MOST HERE
Most of the MLAs were in town today: There are 32 Social Crediters, 16 NDP-CCF and four Liberals.

About 350 of the 575 guests expected to witness Thursday's ceremony will sit in special chairs on the floor of the House. Friday the MLAs' desks will be moved in and regular business will begin.

First government speaker at the session this year will be Victoria's Waldo Skillings, who will move the reply to the Throne Speech.

Next up will be Dudley Little (SC-Skeena), the second speaker.

FIRST OF THREE
This was to have been the first of three major U.S. space efforts scheduled this week. On Friday, an Atlas-Agena rocket is slated to hurl a Ranger 3 payload to the moon to take closeup television pictures and land an instrument package on the lunar surface.

The attempt to orbit astronaut John H. Glenn, Jr., is set for Saturday.

Arena Loses $28,000 Despite Greater Use

A backlog of late reports from Memorial Arena Commission today showed far more people used the civic building than ever before but it lost money.

Obvious reason was loss of professional hockey receipts.

The monthly reports, demanded by city council when the commission failed to provide them as required under a bylaw and a 1961 undertaking, were accompanied by an apology for the "oversight."

They showed, during the seven-month period ended Dec. 31:

$28,342 DEFICIT

The general public also obtained use of the area ice floor for 100 more hours in 1961 than in 1960.

But despite all the increased use, the financial statements showed a deficit of $28,342 for the period.

In recent years, it has made an operating surplus to help ease the burden of mortgage payments carried on the building by city taxpayers.

MONTE ROBERTS

Last Friday was a clear, sparkling day on the waterfront, and the world cruise ship Orcades was a handsome sight as she stopped off Ogden Point.

And I'm sure there was more than one landlubber with a longing for the sea who envied the small party of newspapermen privileged to be ferried out to the ship, and to board her for the crossing to Vancouver.

But before envy gets out of control, listen to a report from Dean Miller, press agent for the P & O-Orient Line, who went aboard with the newspapermen.

"The party of 28 customs, immigration, health department and press members spent a hectic half-hour bobbing up and down near the liner as her master, Capt. John Birch, struggled to give the small boat lee protection.

"It was the most difficult boarding since the P&O liners started the B.C. service in 1954. The small boat, the Zingaro II, had to spend another 30 minutes lying alongside the Orcades as Capt. Birch worked with engines and rudder to protect the Zingaro.

"During this period, the Orcades drifted three miles toward the Victoria shore. Each member of the boarding party was hooked on to a safety belt before attempting to climb the companion ladder.

"I thought you'd like to report this to the waterside audience, Monte, who might have wondered why Orcades hung around so much longer than usual. Believe me, it wasn't because the boys were lingering over a gin and tonic before luncheon."

Thank you, Dean, for making it pleasant to stay ashore.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Volunteer drivers are urgently needed by the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society. Applicants would be asked to drive patients once a week either between their residences and the clinic at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Further information can be obtained from the clinic — EV 2-3622 — on Weekdays.

A London alderman who once served as Lord Mayor of the English capital will visit Victoria during its centennial celebrations. Mayor R. B. Wilson announced Tuesday. He said details are still being arranged.

Herman Bergink, a native of Enschede, Holland, has been appointed organist and choir master at St. David's-by-the-Sea, Cordova Bay, in succession to Archie Miller.

He came to Victoria with his family in 1957.

Mr. Bergink studied music at the Church Musical School, Utrecht, and is a member of the B.C. Registered Music Teachers' Association and the Royal Canadian College of Organists.

SUPREME VERDICT, in his specially-built box stall on the deck of Pacific Unity, is greeted at Ogden Point by his owner, James Audain.

Perfect Young Gentleman' Never Missed a Meal on Ocean Crossing

By HAL MALONE

A four-year-old arrived in Victoria today following an 8,000-mile sea voyage which he took with the aplomb of a Tsawwassen-Sidney crossing.

Audain said Supreme Verdict would get a month's rest "to get his legs."

The traveller was Supreme Verdict, aristocratically-bred British thoroughbred colt, who has done all his racing in Ireland and England.

Audain and trainer Don Carley of Victoria Riding Academy, where he will be stabled, inspected Supreme Verdict aboard the ship early today.

He said Mrs. Hartley sustained fractures to her scalp, extensive lacerations and contusions and severe shock, requiring emergency treatment at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Counsel said the question of ownership of the car at the time of the accident would be an important factor in the case, which continued this afternoon.

CAR SOLD

Mr. and Mrs. Buxton, however, claim that the car had been sold to William E. Barnes, 2907 Shakespeare, before the accident happened, and that Mr. Saunders was driving the car with his consent.

Mr. Baker said Saunders entered the intersection at Scott and Ryan "without first assuring himself that he could safely do so."

CAR SOLD

Mr. and Mrs. Buxton, however, claim that the car had been sold to William E. Barnes, 2907 Shakespeare, before the accident happened, and that Mr. Saunders was driving the car with his consent.

Mr. Baker said Saunders entered the intersection at Scott and Ryan "without first assuring himself that he could safely do so."

He said Mrs. Hartley sustained fractures to her scalp, extensive lacerations and contusions and severe shock, requiring emergency treatment at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Counsel said the question of ownership of the car at the time of the accident would be an important factor in the case, which continued this afternoon.

Audain said Supreme Verdict would get a month's rest "to get his legs."

The traveller was Supreme Verdict, aristocratically-bred British thoroughbred colt, who has done all his racing in Ireland and England.

Audain and trainer Don Carley of Victoria Riding Academy, where he will be stabled, inspected Supreme Verdict aboard the ship early today.

He said Mrs. Hartley sustained fractures to her scalp, extensive lacerations and contusions and severe shock, requiring emergency treatment at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mayor Pushes Merger Study Despite Setback

By JOHN MIKA
Times City Hall Reporter

Greater Victoria voters won't have a chance to make their wishes known on integration of the municipalities unless the four councils agree to at least make a formal study of the question, Mayor R. B. Wilson warned today.

He was fighting back against the first setback in his proposal for a four-way study under the Municipal Act.

Oak Bay and Esquimalt representatives told inter-municipal committee Tuesday they were certain their councils would not agree to a formal study because it might tie their hands.

Saanich Reeve Stanley Murphy said it was obvious that inter-municipal discussion would be fruitless and he was prepared to ask his council for approval at its next meeting of a Victoria-Saanich study on a "go-it-alone" basis.

But Mayor Wilson this morning said he still hopes that a four-way study will be possible so that all Greater Victoria taxpayers have a chance to express their wishes.

His remarks were apt in view of comment at the Tuesday meeting.

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele said he realized a voter among Esquimalt ratepayers might prove him wrong but his guess was that they did not want any part of integration.

There certainly has been no indication of it by way of petitions or such," he said.

The formal study under the Act would solve both situations.

"It would give us the answers and it would give the people a chance to have their say."

Reeve Murphy told inter-municipal committee that he did not wish to introduce ratepayers' demands.

Noting that Oak Bay and Esquimalt ratepayers have not had a direct vote on the question, he added:

"I'm not entirely sure that the councils of these areas are representing the wishes of all the people. I suspect that many favor this idea."

W. Germany Spends $4 Billion on Arms

BONN (Reuters)—The West German cabinet today approved record budget estimates for 1962 including record defence spending.

The military tab was estimated at 16,500,000,000 marks ($4,125,000,000), an increase of 4,200,000,000 marks over last year's figure.

A finance ministry spokesman said the budget total was 53,500,000,000 marks ($13,400,000,000)—about 7,000,000,000 marks more than last year.

The defence ministry budget includes 700,000,000 marks ($175,000,000) for costs arising from the stationing of Western Allied troops in West Germany and 800,000,000 marks ($200,000,000) for civil defence.

Cuba Faces Ouster From OAS

PUNTA DEL ESTE (Reuters)—Foreign ministers of the Organization of American States held working sessions in this Uruguayan resort today with nine of 21 countries opposed to immediate collective OAS action against pro-Communist Cuba.

But eight of the nine against collective action were reported agreed that Cuba had forfeited its right to OAS membership. The ninth was Cuba itself.

Colombia and Guatemala urged drastic action immediately against the government of Premier Fidel Castro, supporting known United States wishes. The opening session was delayed from Monday because of the split over collective action.

Guatemalan Foreign Minister Jesus Unda Murillo urged severest sanctions now and said decisions taken at the conference should be officially communicated to certain friendly countries outside the inter-American defence system, such as Canada, with a request for co-operation from them.

NEUTRALIST STAND

Mexican Foreign Minister Manuel Tello, the second speaker to take the floor, put forth the "neutralist" position, which is supported by Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, Chile, Ecuador, Haiti and Uruguay.

For a proposal to become obligatory to all OAS members, it must receive 14 of 21 votes. Cuba is participating in the conference.

Tello's position was that Cuba forfeited membership in the OAS as a result of its Communist bloc ties, but this was no excuse for "intervention."

Colombian Foreign Minister Jose Joaquin Caideco earlier called on all Western Hemisphere republics to break diplomatic and economic relations with Cuba.

He told Western Hemisphere foreign ministers that Cuba's military buildup and its capacity to acquire unlimited arms "through subordination to the Soviet bloc" made it a danger to the continent's equilibrium of power.

Job Security To Be Given Rail Unions?

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's railways have offered their 110,000 non-operating employees a far-reaching job security program and a wage increase in a bid for a new contract settlement, it was learned today.

No details of the railways' offers were made public, but it was reported they have opened the way for further bargaining.

Contract talks opened Tuesday. They have been adjourned to Feb. 15 so the railways can draw up their offers in greater detail. Only a general outline of the offers was presented to the 15 non-union unions Tuesday.

One union source said it would seem, on the basis of the railways' offers, that they have recognized the basic principle of job security—the heart of the union's demands served a month ago.

MLAs Go Into Huddle On Session Strategy

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Politicians went into caucus today in preparation for Thursday's official opening of the session.

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will do the honors at 3 p.m., accompanied by a 100-man Royal Guard and a 15-gun salute outside the Legislative Buildings.

Social Crediters will meet later.

One of the first moves by the NDP-CCF will be a formal request on the floor of the House for a change of name from plain CCF.

Once the change has been approved by the 52 MLAs, they will hyphenate until the next provincial election, when they will become plain New Democrats.

MOST HERE

Most of the MLAs were in town today. There are 32 Social Crediters, 16 NDP-CCF and four Liberals.

About 350 of the 575 guests expected to witness Thursday's ceremony will sit in special chairs on the floor of the House. Friday the MLAs' desks will be moved in and regular business will begin.

First government speaker at the session this year will be Victoria's Waldo Skillings, who will move the reply to the Throne Speech.

Next up will be Dudley Little (SC-Skeena), the second.

He said "from the very first day of the hearings of the royal commission on publications, the weight and the presence of the state department

Craft Unsighted Since Sunday

The U.S. Coast Guard is carrying out a search today for two men who left Victoria in November aboard a flimsy, 18-foot catamaran for a "leisurely voyage" down the Pacific coast to Mexico.

The Coast Guard said the twin-hulled, home-made craft, equipped with small outboard motor and sail, was believed to carry Bernhardt Abel, 34, and Franz Giers, 21.

The two men left La Push, on the west coast of the Olympic Peninsula, about 2 a.m. Sunday. The craft was last seen by the lighthouse keeper at Destruction Island about noon Sunday.

They were believed headed for Grays Harbor.

STARTED SEARCH

A third member of the crew when the catamaran left Victoria, Wolfgang Giffels, 22, hitchhiked from La Push to Grays Harbor Sunday, and set the search in motion when he could not locate his friends.

The Coast Guard has combed the shoreline from La Push to the Columbia River, to a distance eight miles at sea, but no sign of the frail craft has been seen.

A fourth member of the expedition when the catamaran left here in November was Clark Huffman, 19, of Trenton, Ont., who hitchhiked to Vancouver and joined the group by answering an advertisement placed by Abel, leader of the group.

BACK TO CANADA

The coast guard believes Huffman has returned to Canada. First reports cited Huffman as owner of the craft, but Abel said while in Victoria it was a co-operative venture, with all four men helping to build and finance the boat at a cost of about $1,200.

Abel, a free-lance photographer, had hoped to make money on the trip by selling still and motion pictures and feature stories.

From Victoria the four men crossed to Port Angeles, and ran into trouble when they held a pontoon landing on the U.S. shore.

They returned to Vancouver, original starting point for the venture, but resumed the trip in December. Abel checked with customs at Neah Bay before moving on to La Push, where the craft remained for about a month.

It is not known when Huffman left the expedition to return to Canada.

Space 'Buckshot' Misses Target

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Rocket failure today ruined an attempt to boost five satellites into orbit simultaneously to probe a number of space mysteries.

The space quintuplets hurtled into the sky at 4:30 a.m. EST (1:30 PST) cradled in the nose of a 80-foot Thor-Able-Star rocket.

The first stage of the normally and observers saw the second stage ignite.

But 20 minutes after launching the defence department announced that the upper stage failed to build up sufficient thrust after ignition and the entire rocket assembly plunged in the Atlantic far down range.

The failure wrecked the first for Saturday.

Officials said the $3,500,000 multiple payload experiment to date. Attempts have been made south of Cuba.

TUNISIA LEFT OUT

FEZ, Morocco (AP)—King Hassan II of Morocco and Algerian rebel Premier Ben Youcef Ben Khedda announced plans Tuesday night to work toward political union for Northwest Africa, the long-discussed "United Arab Maghreb."

The announcement made no mention of Tunisia and appeared to be a sharp slap at Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba. He has been the leader in previous efforts to realize some sort of unity for the Maghreb, the Arab designation for the western part of the Arab world.

Germans Make Break To Freedom

BERLIN (UPI)—A group of 28 East Germans Tuesday night staged the largest mass escape to the West since the Communists built the Berlin wall last Aug. 13, police disclosed today.

The successful flight from Communist rule was reported as the East German parliament passed a military draft law. (See page 28.)

West German police said the group of refugees, who ranged in age from 8 to 71, slipped through Communist barbed wire. The refugees included men, women and children.

Police said the escape was made in an isolated area where the northwest corner of Berlin juts into the fields, swamps and ponds of East Germany.

Mass Arrests

JAKARTA (Reuters)—About 30 persons, including former cabinet ministers, have been arrested in a drive against opposition leaders following the attempt on Indonesian President Sukarno's life Jan. 17, usually reliable sources said today.
